SEMO ALUMNA NAMED OUTSTANDING FUTURE FOREIGN LANGUAGE TEACHER

Kansas City, MO — The Foreign Language Association of Missouri (FLAM) has named Southeast Missouri State University alumna Haley Dolosic as its 2014 Outstanding Future Foreign Language Teacher.

Dolosic received the award at FLAM's annual fall conference in Kansas City on October 18th. The Outstanding Future Foreign Language Teacher Award is presented to a post-secondary language student who demonstrates superior ability in reading, writing, speaking, listening comprehension and cultural awareness in a second language.

As this year's recipient, Ms. Dolosic exemplifies these traits, having graduated from Southeast Missouri State University with a B.A. in French and Global Studies, minor in Spanish, and a B.S.Ed in French Education. Ms. Dolosic completed her degrees in just 4 years while maintaining a perfect 4.0 GPA.

Dr, Kimberly Louie, Assistant Professor of Spanish at Southeast Missouri State University writes: "In all my years of teaching at the university level, this person immediately stood out as a gifted, dedicated, intelligent, kind, serious, and excited student."

Ms. Dolosic is currently enrolled in the Ph.D. program at Washington University in St. Louis studying Foreign Language Education and Second Language Acquisition on a full scholarship.
